

YOUR MORNING BITS AND PIECES

---

Wednesday, February 25, 2009, 03:38 AM

- If you click on this bolded part...you will not find any permalink whatsoever about the latest Conservative MP going after me in the House of Commons. Why? Because, try as they might, this weeks-long and bizarre Conservative fatwa on Yours Truly has attracted no mainstream media interest. A number of people have lately asked me why the Conservatives are so preoccupied with me. As one lawyer friend said when I dropped by his office yesterday afternoon, to amend our pleadings against you-know-who: "It's stupid. They look like they're afraid of you, and they're not hurting Ignatieff in the slightest. They should be doing what Obama is doing, which is reassuring people about the economy. But they just keep going after you. Is it hurting your business?" Me: "No. It's actually getting me business. I hope they keep it coming. They look like frigging idiots."*

- "Official tableid for the hyper-militant faction of a movement" Ouch